Ishil Elected President Of Association, But Resigns

The originators and supporters of he newly organized "Association for Higher Wages" are wondering why it is that many more Japanese loyalists and patriots do not render assistance or express themselves openly in favor of the high-wage proposiion. When they met tast Saturday night in the Japanese Y. M. C. A. hall on Kukul street, Y. Ishii, a druggist and an officer of almost all the Japanese associations, was elected president of the association. This was done although he was not present, but on account of his having expressed himself in favor of seeing that the plantation laborers are given better wages.

Shortly after the meeting. Ishii told the committee that he could not serve on account of pressure of bus-He tendered his resignation and is no longer connected with the association. Fred. K. Makino, vice resident, will conduct its affairs. Makino, when seen this morning, stated that he was willing to go right ahead and try to settle the pilikia micably. "The trouble with these prominent Japanese merchants," said Makino, "is that they are afraid of rewspaper attacks. Ishii, for instance, esigned because he was afraid of the newspapers."

Ishli, on the other hand, said that he esigned on account of his private Japanese associations, such as the Red Cross society, the Japanese Buddhist society, the Japanese Leper Commit tee, the new Japanese bank and many other societies," he said. "Personally, I am in favor of the high wage proposition. Every true Japanese, I believe, is in favor of seeing better wages paid the Japanese plantation laborers. I resigned from my position as president in order that might devote my entire time to my private business. I am not afraid of the newspapers, but I would rather go slow and be successful in my busi-

Y. Soga, editor of the Nippu Jiji. who has been and is still fighting for "equality," claims that the wages of the Japanese laborers should be raised so as to equal those of the Porto Ricans and other laborers, regardless of color or race.

"Of course," said Sogs, "I see that ome of my countrymen, who are in favor of having the wages of the Japanese laborers raised, do not want to make themselves known publicly They are evidently afraid of newspaper attacks. The fact that the Japanese at large are in sympathy with the high-wage proposition is evidenced by their opinions, which they conveyed to the committee when it canvassed the business houses."

lent, committed suicide vesterday afternoon at his home in Buckle lane by taking strychnine. He had been brooding for some time past and had been threatening to take his own

Steward bought the poison yesterday forenoon at the Chambers drug store, signing the record book in accordance with law. He returned at about 3 p. m. and locked himself in the bathroom, where he took some of the poison. He then went to his bedroom, telling his wife that he felt ill. She 'phoned for a physician, and when she returned her husband told her that he had taken poison and asked her to send for Captain Parker in order that he might make a statement to him. Soon afterward he died without suffering the agonies usual in such cases. Steward was born in Castlerey street, Auckland, Dec. 15, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, 819, 1849, nine years old. He leaves a widow and nine children. The latter are Welliam, David, Catherine, James, Henry, Thomas, Paul, and Christo her Steward, all of this Island.
